Dedication

From the hub of a wheel radiate spokes; from the hub of student activities, Alumni Hall, radiate all facets of University life. Square tables, blaring music, cigarette . . . pairs of feet trodding the brick steps, hands opening doors, fingers flowing to the jazz rhythm . . . a friendly smile, a caustic retort, an emphatic rebuttal—the familiarities of environment which fade into an euphonious monotone. And as a wheel revolves and gains momentum, so do the activities at Alumni Hall revolve, intertwine and form the buzz of student life.

Time is a part of Alumni Hall—the wasted hour before class, the weekly meetings for committees, the hungry crowd at twelve o'clock, the impatient minutes one waits in line for a cup of coffee, and the gaiety of fraternities and sororities during the weeks of rushing. Disregarding time, professors and students exchange opinions, coeds plan party weekends, and foreign students assimilate American slang expressions. Alumni Hall has been necessary to our campus—from the basement Knight Club, to the cafeteria, study, lounge, and meeting rooms, Alumni Hall has offered a refuge from the rain, a meeting place for student leaders, a locale for campus cuties, and a center for relaxation from the schoolbook routine.

The white pillars will no longer be surrounded by students, but the activities and sentiments will be perpetuated in another building filled with new equipment and better facilities; however, in reverence to the memories each student has, we dedicate this yearbook to Alumni Hall—the heartbeat of the University of Bridgeport.

"CONGRATULATIONS"

Story of The Year

PRESEMESTER WEEKEND

The annual Alumni Hall retreat attended by student leaders and members of the administration was held at Bear Rock Lodge, Mount Washington, Massachusetts.

In an air of informality, matters pertaining to the student leaders' functions on campus are discussed. These functions relate mainly to the student's morale and activity participation is encouraged. A good deal of the discussion centered about plans for the new Student Union. All meetings were held in the rustic lodge in between tennis, golf swimming, and horseback riding. With the right combination of work and play, much was accomplished towards an ever-improving administration-student relationship.

FRESHMAN

All summer the freshman week committee met to formulate plans and activities to orientate the freshman with college life at U.B. There were many meetings and suggestions in order to help the new students adjust to college life. Frank Mizak and Jack Stewart guided the chairman of the different committees and proposed a schedule of events which were beneficial to the student body as well as the new freshman.

Those activities which took place were of many types. The first assembly was the introduction of the administration and faculty to the frosh. Other events followed which were of a social nature and which allowed the freshman to become more acquainted with the campus. Different athletic contests were also planned at which time the students intermingled.

The highlight of freshman week was the crowning of the Frosh Queen, Maria Nuno, at the Freshman Ball.

Everyone worked hard to make this week a success, and judging by the smile on the fresh new faces many frosh look forward to the next incoming class.

WEEK

MILESTONE CEREMONY

This important event in the College of Nursing celebrates the symbolization of the milestone which each class had reached. Freshman receive their name pins, sophomores their caps, juniors the U.B. initials on their caps, and seniors receive purple bands for their caps and are allowed to wear their white uniforms to signify that they are nearing their goal.

The ceremony pays tribute to a group of girls who think education is important enough not only to pass their course in school during the regular academic year, but also to go on affiliation during the hot summer months.

CAPPING

Capping for freshmen in the Fones School of Dental Hygiene took place this year on February 12, being held for the first time in the Trustees' Room of Dana Hall. The ceremonies mark the academic progress of the students at the end of the first semester of collegiate study. This year's class of fifty was the largest in Fones School history.

Dr. Henry Littlefield, vice-president of the University, presided at the capping ceremonies. Benefactor Charles Anderson Dana spoke to the group, congratulating the students on their accomplishments.

PLEDGING

The Greek letter organizations again followed the Inter-Fraternity Council plan of universal rushing and pledging. The uninitiated were invited to teas and stags, where they shyly watched the poised "Greeks," who were condescendingly observing them. After the exciting and sometimes nerve wracking period of rushing, the mysterious Greek world opened to many. It proved much less mysterious on closer examination.

The college campus was transformed by uniquely costumed pledges who had to perform chores and antics, pleasing the pitiless brothers and sisters at all times. There were pledge tasks — autographing eggs, carrying supplies, or gold bricks; entertainments — singing for the "benefit" of the captive audience at Alumni Hall; and many other forms of harassment.

The two weeks (which seemed more like two months at times) of informal and formal pledging culminated in the overwhelming weekend which included hell night and pledge trips. The pledges tried to be prepared for anything but the Greeks outguessed most of them.

Finally, the exciting moment came — initiation — and the Greek organizations truly shone in all their splendor. This is a thrilling time for both the pledges, who are experiencing it for the first time, and for the brothers or sisters, who are reliving their first time.

ALUMNI HALL STUDENT

CAMPUS THUNDER

Although many students are overwhelmed just by the prospect of being back in classes in September, every year there is a hardy group who tries out for this professional production. The chosen ones are easily recognized by mid-November by their strained, harassed faces and attitudes. They work for four months, repeating a part, a dance, or an act again and again, trying to achieve perfection before the big moment when the curtain rises and the genie steps forth.

This year "The Peacock Season," an entertaining musical taking place in New York City and Tuxedo Park in the early 1900's, was presented.

DANA CONVOCATION

The Charles A. Dana Scholarship program established at the University of Bridgeport by Mr. Dana is perhaps the most important of this generous benefactors several "investments" totaling well over one million dollars at the University. The purpose of the scholarship program is to identify and encourage students of academic promise who have completed at least one year of college satisfactorily, who are in need of financial assistance, and who show potential traits of leadership and evidence indicating future successes in business, industry and the professions.

JACOBY LECTURES

The Frank Jacoby lectures were established at the University of Bridgeport in 1952 by the late Frank Jacoby "to further the brotherhood of man and the equality of man regardless of race, color, or creed." Dr. Ralph Bunche initiated the series of lectures in 1952, and was followed by various distinguished national figures.

This year Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., symbol of the passive resistence fight to end segregation, spoke on "The American Dream". Addressing an attentive two thousand students and townspeople, Dr. King stressed the importance of America's becoming a truly democratic country, providing equal opportunities for all. He emphasized the fact that "Brotherhood is our only salvation."

After the lecture, Dr. King participated in a question and answer period with the University Student Council and other members of the audience.

U. B. DAY

University of Bridgeport students raised $20,450 in week-long UB Day activities from among fellow classmates, area merchants and suppliers to help meet an expected $185,000 deficit on their $1,410,000 student center.

Individual pledges, work projects, area solicitation, and a "slave market" were employed by the students in an effort to boost campaign contributions.

A goal of $35,000 had been set by student campaign leaders, but university officials expressed "sincere appreciation" for the funds received. Contributions from part-time Evening Division students at the university continue to be received.

Theta Sigma fraternity won the top prize of a 24-inch golden trophy cup in competition among campus Greek-letter groups and clubs and organizations. The brothers of Theta Sigma contributed a total of $2,010, an average of $96.00 per person to the campaign fund.

After buying these lovelies at the IFC slave auction Kurt Pffankuch has it rough.

Awards were presented at a final report meeting in the university gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The "slave mart" preceded the report meeting.

The top individual soliciter was Oliver Tenny Jr. of 1920 Main Street, Stratford, a member of Theta Sigma fraternity. Tenney collected $800 from 80 contributors. He was presented with a gold watch by the university's board of associates.

Theta Sigma fraternity also won first prize in competition among fraternities and sororities for its contribution of $2,010. Permanent possession of a trophy presented by Mooney's Sport Shop was awarded to the group.

Chaffee Hall, first floor, a dormitory for women, in competition with other dormitory groups, was awarded a Zenith stereo portable phonograph donated by the Zenith Corporation of New York.

The men's senate won first prize in competition among campus clubs and organizations. The group was presented with a gavel and sound block donated by the Schwerdtle Stamp Company.

The "slave mart" captured the fancy of university students with both coeds and male students "sold" in lots of three or four.

Prices received ranged upwards from "three coeds for a dollar" to more than $17 for five males. The coeds appeared to have more spending money, and in many instances "pooled their resources" to purchase "slaves" for themselves.

The "slave mart" added a total of $161.50 to the campaign total. Prof. Harry Kendall served as auctioneer.

"If we could eliminate the joker in the group, we would accomplish much more at these meetings."

"Now that Jack has left, this is how the cover will look."

After innumerable discussions and disputes, and votes, and revotes at weekly meetings throughout June, July, and August, a tremendous effort is put forth to produce the yearbook. Hundreds of pictures and page upon page of copy are gathered and placed in separate files.

Layouts are planned, copy typed and proof read, pictures collected and itemized. This mass is then checked and rechecked. Later, galley proofs are returned by the publisher and each page must be checked once again.

After months of long and varied work there is the satisfaction of seeing a book emerge from hopeless confusion. The job of satisfying a student body of over two thousand, with a tremendous diversity of opinions, influences the staff to try a different style of year book each year in an effort to find the one which is the best representation of the men and women of the University of Bridgeport.

In the Scribe's Marina Hall office each Thursday, as for the past 31 years, the birth of the school newspaper begins. Reporters scour the campus for evidences of the University's changing scene. The copy editor coordinates the rewriting of this copy for use in print and uses his discretion as to the amount of space a story may receive. The staff as a whole must produce one of the school's most important communicative media; thus, the paper must be not only meaningful in content, but also symmetrical in its appearance. Before the finished product is cast in lead, each article receives scrutinous attention.

On the following Thursday morning, the circulation manager distributes the Scribe to campus newstands and mails copies to neighboring colleges.

The hectic seven-day schedule which involves every Scribe enthusiast on today's campus is a commendable example of growth and of group effort in contrast to the Junior College Scribe of 1930, which operated on a $50 budget to produce a newspaper serving a mere 60 students. Circulation then could not rise above 25 copies.

Today the Scribe issues 30 papers during the academic year to 3,000 readers and services more than 100 advertising accounts; thus, the University now can boast of recognized journalists which once numbered among its Scibe Staff.

The Helicon is the University's aesthetic expression of literary values open to all willing contributors; its pages offer an ever-expanding mode of communication for those who find gratification in the written word.

The 1961 edition was one of the most successful in the Helicon's history. Committed to an editorial policy emphasizing high literary quality, the magazine enjoyed popularity among both students and faculty. Seventeen hundred copies were distributed on campus and through the mail.

The Alumni Hall Board of Directors is the ultimate source of authority for the programming of social activities sponsored by this student center. Although for years this building has been the dynamic force attracting commuters, dorm students, and faculty to relax momentarily from academic tensions, soon its activity will be on a memory.

Among the pleasantries recalled will be the multitude of student entertainment the Board contracted, such as the Yale Whiffenpoofs, the Talbot Brothers of Bermuda, comedian Joey Adams, a Talent Show, personalities from the American Shakespeare Theater, and Coffee Hours for both evening and day students.

By the fall of 1961, the new Alumni Hall Student Center will function as the "hub" of student activities. In preparation, the Board has been expanding its programming of events and planning of new amusements to enable the new center to be used to its fullest capacity.

The Political Relations Forum, industriously involved in the practical application of politics, is the means by which students can actively partake in the governmental control of Connecticut. For three consecutive days, twenty University of Bridgeport students congregate at the state capitol in Hartford to exchange ideas and impressions with members from seventeen other colleges and universities.

This year, Arthur Sultan and David Simpson aired their political biases in the mock "House." The University obtained also two Senate chairmanships, Edward Fernandez and Jack Rosenberg, and one House Committee chairmanship, Michael Wargo.

To arouse interest in politics on campus, the P.R.F. sponsors lectures, conducts a parliamentary procedure workshop, and directs all major campus elections. The P.R.F. is the training-ground for future statesmen and political enthusiasts.

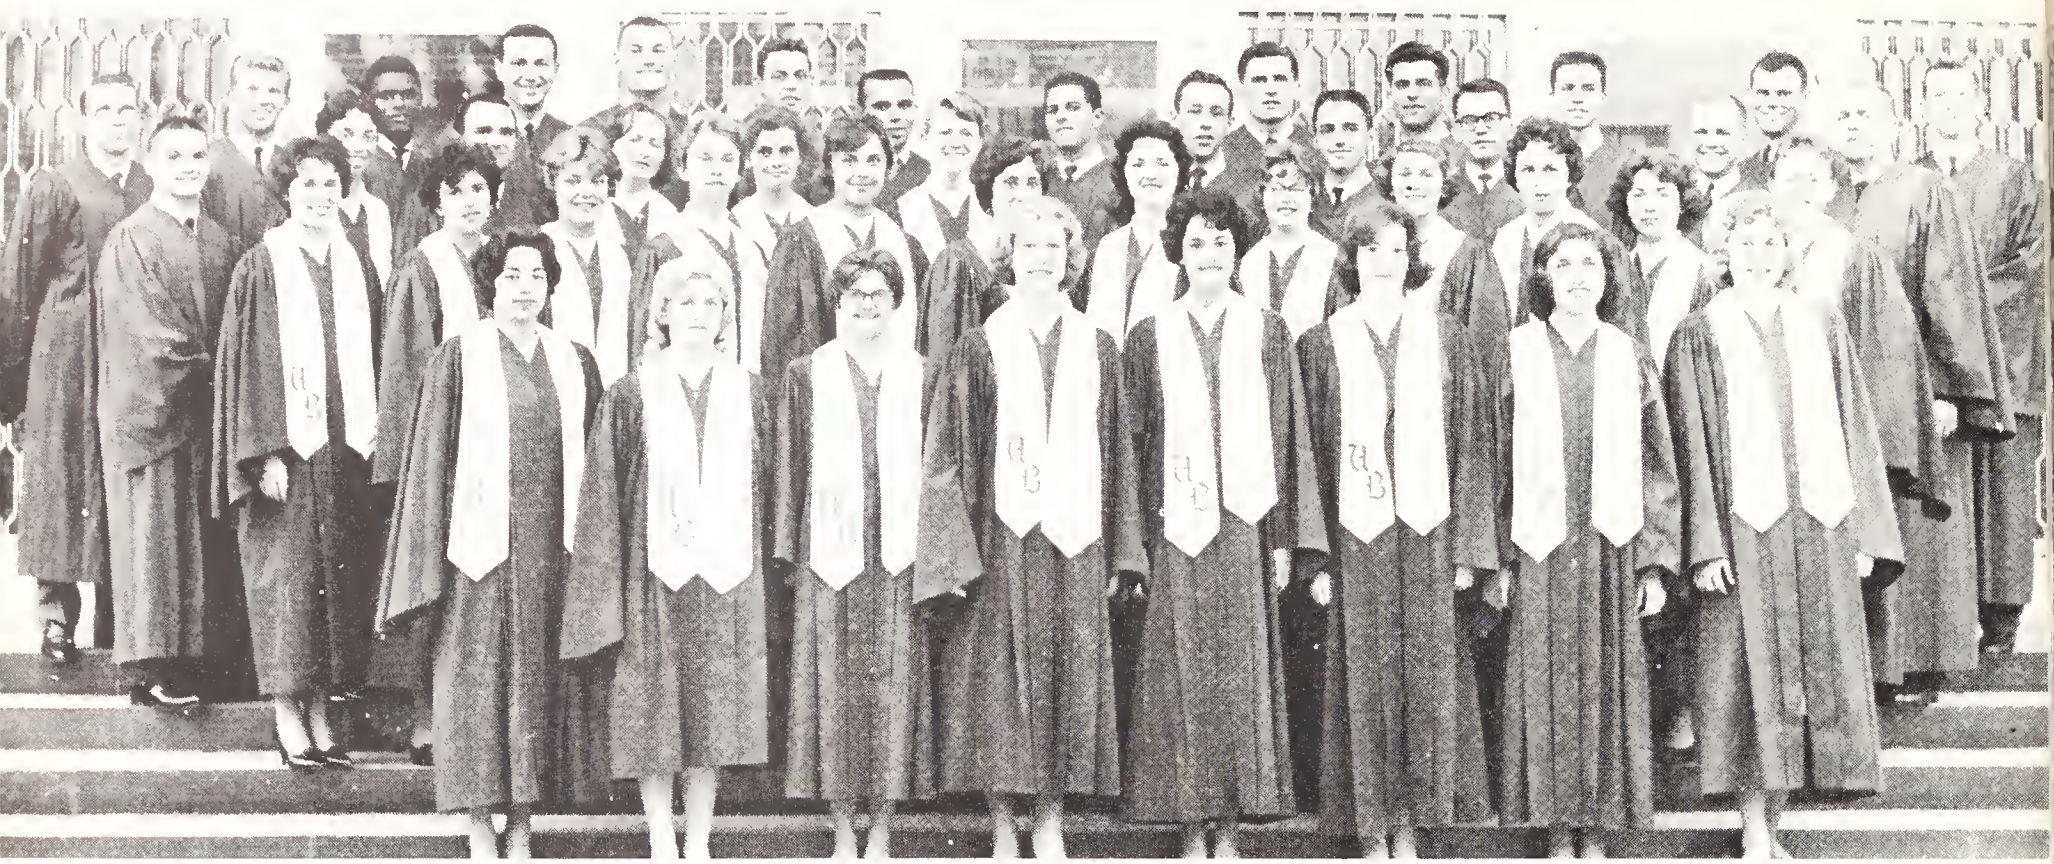
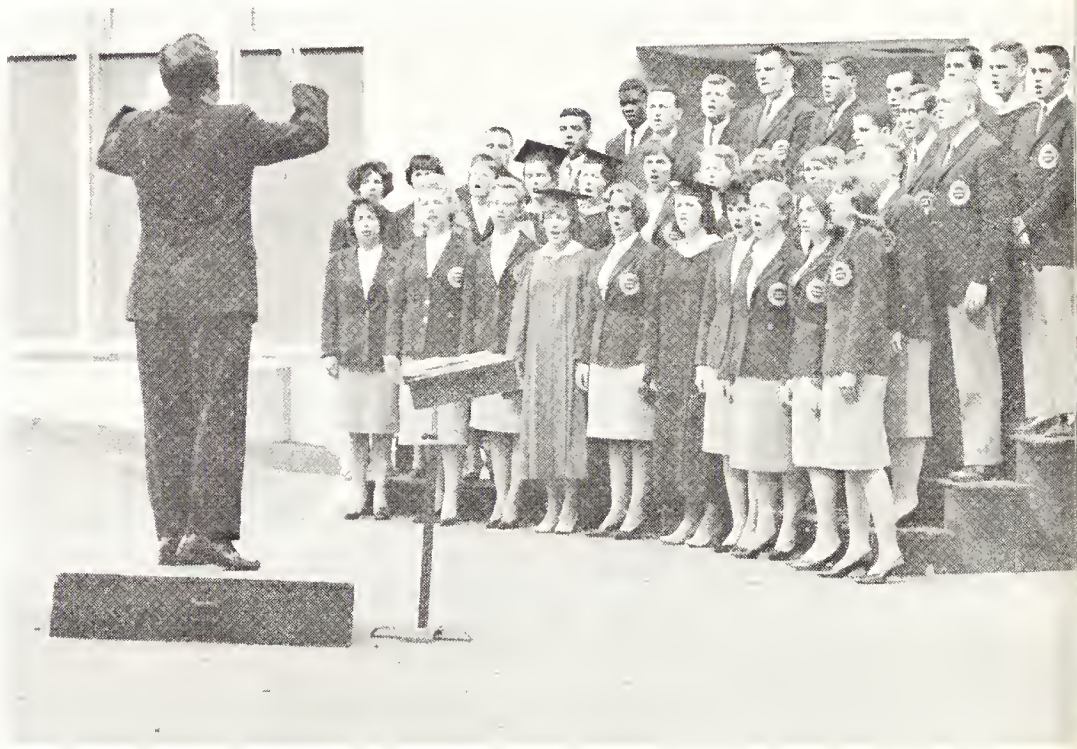
A CAPELLA CHOIR



The choir's activities are full and varied. Each season begins with a week-long music workshop held during fall term registration. Here the students are brought into the spirit of the choir and gain a basic knowledge of the year's musical repertoire. The first big event of the season is the Christmas Concert. During the Christmas season, the choir also has numerous small engagements and day-hop tours to Connecticut high schools. The spring tour, taken on the Choir's Easter vacation, brings the group to high-school and Parents association groups farther away from the U.B. campus. Long Island and Massachusetts have been visited recently. The regular season is ended by the spring concert at the University in April, but the choir continues to rehearse and audition new members for the following year.

Although its history is brief, the Choir is an important part of life at the University of Bridgeport. Through campus performances, one day tours, and the Spring tour, the Choir has brought its love of music to student and adult audiences in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Connecticut.



Choir membership is open to any student at the University. There is nearly always a representative from each college, including Arnold, Arts and Science, Business, Dental Hygiene, Education, Engineering, Nursing, and Secretarial students. Auditions of prospective members are held each spring and fall. Each hopeful student is judged on both individual musical talent and that special ability to blend with the group, which is so important in a small choir.

BAND

Football season suggests the emotional fervor of competition, tension, and togetherness of students to defeat a rival. The Purple Knights' Marching Band, demonstrating to the invigorating cadences of school chants, adds to the color and excitement of the day.

As the largest band organized on campus for more than a decade, the Purple Knights have the visible strength of size and the unseen relentless desire for precision. The addition of a new percussion instrument intensified the breath-taking throbbing beat one experiences as the band plays.

To the members, the sounds of "left, right — get in step — left, right — watch your lines" while stumbling through Barnum Field in a victory march will always remain familiar.

Fall changes to winter, the trees lose their foliage, and with the change in seasons the University Marching Band, the musical exponent to football, becomes a Concert Band. The one-time relentless marchers become relaxed sitting musicians.

In performing for such memorable occasions as the Jacoby Lecture, Spring Concert, Graduation, and concerts open to public attendance at the Klein Memorial, the members gain a gratifying feeling of pride in having contributed to the success of these events and to the enjoyment of its participants.

In progressing simultaneously with the growth of the University, the band will enlarge and don new uniforms to brighten their coming performances.

Row 3: Beverly Slone, Janice Feddersen, Gail Minty, Antje Orbanowski.

The Basic Student Nurse's Association, a voluntary organization, offers its members participation in district, state, and national affairs as conducted by this organization.

The group plans the annual Milestone-marking Ceremony, at which time each class in the Basic Program is recognized for its endeavors in the nursing profession. Freshmen receive name pins; sophomores, the first cap; juniors, the University insignia; and seniors, the purple band. Each award is well-deserved by the recipient.

The Association sold mums for Homecoming, staged a welcoming pizza party for all students, and were hostesses for the State Student Nurse's Association Convention.

CNRNA

The College of Nursing Registered Nurse's Association represents the registered nurse who returns to the educational environment not only to improve her professional methods, but also to gain confidence as a responsible individual, citizen, and professional nurse.

The organization programs professional men to speak as representatives of law and medicine and other endeavors which affect the nurse's work. Students participate also in the campus activities during Homecoming and U. B. Day.

MEN'S SENATE

The closing of the old dormitories and the opening of the new men's dormitories gave the 1960-61 Men's Senate a chance to begin the year with a new legislative plan. Each floor in the dormitory is represented by a freshman and an upperclass senator. Shelton Hall, the University's distant outpost, is represented by four senators. The "refugees" (off-campus men) have three representatives who are appointed by Mr. Sorrel Chessin, the group's advisor. This organization is concerned with the welfare of the male students, and resolves complaints, plans organization of dormitories, and acts as the mediator between students and administration.

Student spirit is an intangible magnetism closely associated with college life, that force which can provide a campus with a feeling of unity and purposefulness; to effect these ideals, the members of the Student Spirit Committee are dedicated.

In the attempt to make student spirit something tangible to the student body and to increase their awareness of the need for such spirit, posters advertised all University functions, the Purple Knight appeared at all sports events, and pep rallies served to rouse fellow students to the peak of "rah-rah" college enthusiasm. This committee had a handicap, that of the non-unifyable nature of the diverse students at the University; however, each member worked persistently against these odds.

The joint Student Chapter of the Institute of Radio Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers serves to effect a meaningful transition from classroom to industry for the electrical engineering students. The two National groups hold professional eminence in all fields of electrical engineering, and offer innumerable technical and professional advantages to its members.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB

The Amateur Radio Club, newly organized in February, 1960, attempts to promote fellowship and to further the exchange of ideas with other novices through amateur communication. Respectfully known as "hams," its members are part of a world-wide fraternity of radio operators whose hobby is pursued by people of all countries and provinces.

The members of A.R.C. are interested in sharing their experiences in international communication with the entire collegiate student body.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY

The Engineering Society of the University of Bridgeport was established in 1947 by engineering students interested in advancement and dissemination of knowledge of the theory and practice of engineering. The presentation of a proper perspective of engineering works, and the opportunity to promote professional consciousness and fellowship among students of the College of Engineering is the purpose.

In 1961 the Society applied for membership in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, was accepted, and will begin operation in the fall semester of 1961.

Club activities included arranging interviews for graduating students, field trips to various companies, and representation at local ASME meetings.

The Industrial Design Society has grown actively to larger dimensions since its birth in 1952. With special consideration for relations between the Industrial Design Department and the remainder of the University, an exhibit sponsored by the students was opened to the public in Milford Hall. This exhibit helped to activate one of the ideals of the organization, that of promoting better understanding of the work of the industrial designer and his world.

The Christian Association is made up of students from several religious denominations. Its purpose is to stimulate thought and action in higher education from the Christian point of view. It sponsors convocations, study and discussion groups, and lectures. The association is related to the Student Christian Movement and is sponsored by the Council of Churches of Greater Bridgeport.

CANTERBURY ASSOCIATION

The Canterbury Association is one of the newest organizations on campus. It is a national student organization, conducted under the auspices of the Episcopal church. Its purpose is to promote Christian fellowship through social service, educational activities, and worship.

NEWMAN CLUB

In the environs of the diversity of campus life, students often feel the necessity for spiritual and moral guidance; thus, the Newman Club functions as the fulfillment of religious needs in Catholocism. Students may attend a communion breakfast, retreat, Sunday mass, religious instructions, and numerous social activities. Father Holbrook is the supervisor.

HILLEL

This year the B'nai Brith Hillel Counsellorship is celebrating its Fifth Anniversary at the University of Bridgeport. Hillel offers guidance for students in religious, cultural, and educational endeavors; attempts to produce tolerant, open-minded young adults through an understanding of inter-faith complexities; and gives students an opportunity to better define their concept of Judasim. Students hold joint meetings with the various other religious organizations on campus.

The year 1961 was the initiation of Friday night services conducted on campus for the convenience of resident students. With the increase in membership from 100 to 200, Hillel is expanding its program to meet the needs of a growing organization.

With an eye for current events, the past presidential campaign provided timely material for a political debate which exposed the tenets of both political parties.

MAJORETTES

Front: Barbara Rodgers.
Back: Donna Sellick, Joyce Peiser, Roberta Newman.

The Majorettes, the complementary parading unit to the Marching Band, perform twirling skills for the enjoyment of football spectators. The squad of girls, bedecked with colorful uniforms and shining batons, march proudly to the strains of victory tunes.

Under the direction of Barbara Rodgers and Yvonne Demery, the group perfects their performances to best display their talents.

SKI CLUB

This year the University of Bridgeport Ski Club had its best season, as far as fun, membership, and trips were concerned. During mid-semester break, the club spent five days at Mount Snow in Vermont on a trip filled with fun, spills, skiing, and partying. In March they took a small trip to Mohawk Mountain in Connecticut and continued their skiing and fun.

ARNOLD MAJORS' CLUB

The Arnold Majors Club is a professional organization formed for the purpose of promoting physical education, health, and recreation. The club advises its members as to the current opportunities and methods in physical education. Organized in 1959, more than sixty members now share the benefits of this club. Guest speakers include Joseph Mina, President of Arnold Alumni; Doctor Peter Karpovich of Springfield College; and Bonnie Predens. The members offer their services for the school's theater evenings and UB Day.

Row 2: Carol Kenel, Marie Renaldi, Grace Johansson, Ethel Dale, Ann Griswold.
Row 3: Joan Hulme, Susanne Silverberg, Minna Horovitz, Eileen Black, Patricia Dasko.

The Women's Athletic Association sponsors the university intramural program in which every undergraduate woman may participate. Membership and awards in the association are granted on a point system; the coat-sweater and trophy are the highest commendations for individual point accumulation. At the annual banquet in May, group trophies are presented; the Challenge Trophy and Participation Trophy.

W.A.A. contributed to the increase of student spirit in establishing a traditional "powder-puff" basketball game in which the women vie the fraternities; women's dress and rules are required for all players.

STUDENT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

Row 1: George Sayres (treasurer) Rona Lazin (recording secretary), James McGarry (president), Carol Kamarck (corresponding secretary), Dr. Caroll Palmer (advisor).
Row 2: Ellen White, Gail Schneider, Virginia Pagano, Heather Carpenter, Freda Felberbaum, Barbara Ignatowski, Sandra Dorfman, John Halsey.

Absent: Elizabeth Guzzi (vice president).

The Student Education Association is a professional organization composed of students who plan to teach as a career. Affiliated with the Connecticut Education Association and the National Education Association, the SEA strives to fulfill its need, responsibility, and obligation to become better acquainted with the concepts of teaching as defined by professional organizations.

At frequent state and national conferences members meet and exchange ideas and values regarding such topics as ethics, professional standards, and new teaching techniques.

Respected educators spoke to the group, its membership now totaling 231, of the hazards involved in "Team Teaching," "Educating for the Future," and "Student Teaching."

FRESHMAN WEEK COMMITTEE

Square those beanies! Sing the Alma Mater! Recite the U.B. cheers! These were just a few of the commands given to the incoming freshman by the Freshman Week Committee. All was in fun though and both groups enjoyed the entire week which consisted of a picnic, convocation, a jazz concert, a movie, a record hop, guided tours, and highlight of the week, the Freshman Ball.

Row 5: Ian Black, Eugene Conroy, Stanley Engle, William Dixon, Kurt Pfannkuch, Michael Schreter.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

The Social Activities Committee has the responsibility of arranging for the exotic aura and degree of success which accompanies the three major social events of the University, that of Winter Formal, Sweetheart Dance, and Wistaria Ball. Of all campus organizations, this group bears the greatest responsibility to the student body, for the social events on campus are those evenings which bring nostalgia to a graduate's memories. The success of these events will largely affect each student's desire for identification with the tumult of college life.

As a tradition, a queen is presented at each of these dances. The girl honored by such beauteous distinction is chosen from seven finalists by popular vote of the student body.

On graduation day a parting tribute to the seniors is made at an informal "Coffee And . . ." gathering for graduates. guests, and parents.

Row 1: Patricia Aarons (corresponding secretary), Helene Kruh (recording secretary), Jeffrey Spitalnik (co-chairman), Gale Werman (co-chairman), Mrs. Marion Hotchkiss (advisor).

The 1960 Homecoming Committee, comprised of the organization and college representatives to Student Council, was responsible for coordinating the events and activities of the three-day Homecoming Weekend in November. The carousel of events began with a pep rally and fraternity-sponsored dance; the annual Float Parade, meaningful to the town as well as the school, and dormitory display contests preceeded evening soccer and football games; a dance and talent show culminated the evening's agenda; finally, on Sunday afternoon, the students relaxed to the cacaphony of the Yale Whiffenpoofs.

The entire program involved a variety of stimulating events ale carefully planned solely for the enjoyment of the student body, undergraduate and alumni.

SPANISH CLUB

Row 1: Dr. Emilio Clocchiatti (advisor), Hazel Ruben (publicity manager), Eugene Gordon (president), Jacqueline Landino (vice president), Sandra Horney (secretary), Angelo Cocco (treasurer).
Row 2: Nancy Weisburger, Edward Fernandez, Thomas Celestino, Linda Broden, Anne Labaree, Yvette Bredbenner, Kathleen Mahoney.
Row 3: Harold Kent, Anthony Amato, Donald Kaiser, Samuel Wburstein, Costo Buonanno, Jeremy Penner, Robert Norton.

Complementary to the study of a modern language is the study of the culture from which it arises. Composed of students from all levels of study, the Spanish Club attempts to examine the Spanish culture as it exists today in world prominence.

Several members of the club who have either visited or lived in Spain, Mexico, and Purto Rico spoke to the group of the present-day status of these countries and their contributions to the world. The students entertained also doctors and clergymen who have practiced in Purto Rico.

Color slides were available to acquaint students with Spanish culture, as the Alhambra, bull fight, and graceful, yet violently masculine Flamenco dance.

The club visited churches and homes of Spanish-speaking people residing in Bridgeport, viewed a Spanish movie in New York, and dined in a Spanish resturant — all of which provided the students with vividly impressionistic experiences to help complete the image of Spanish life instilled in them.

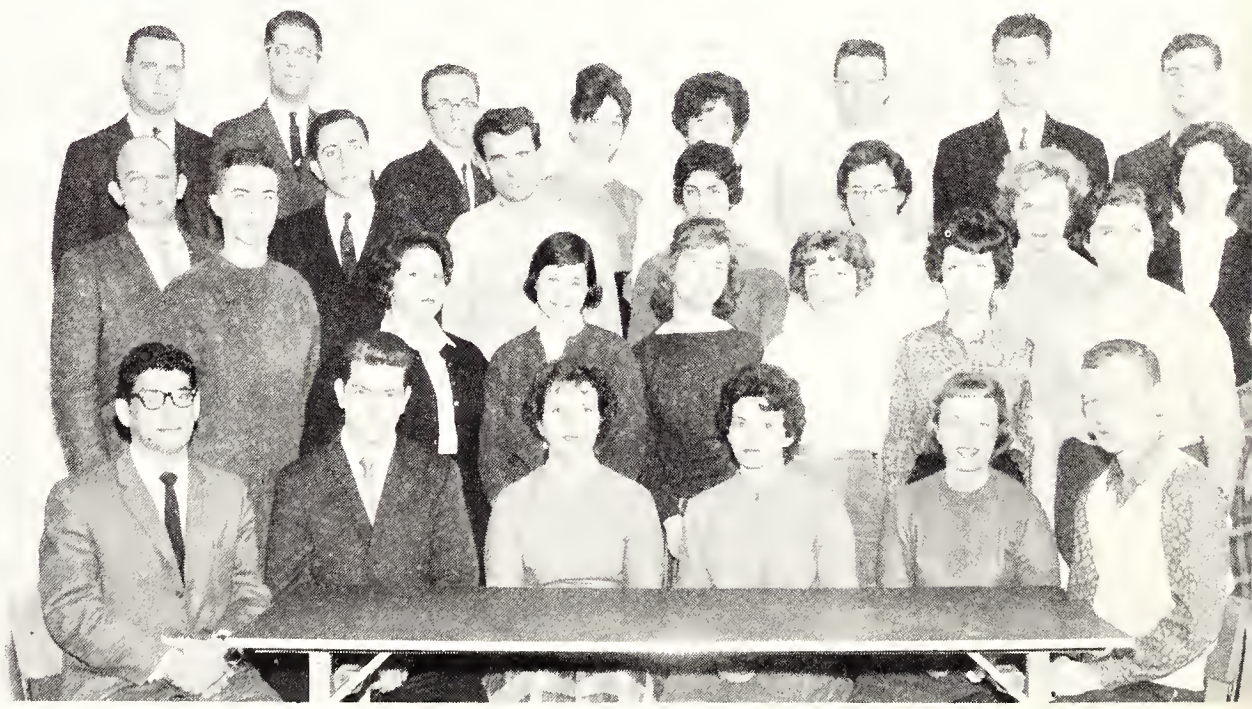
FRENCH CLUB

Whether one is a student of le francais and le culteur francais or simply a fanatic for the languor and lilt of the French tongue, the French Club offers a chance for such esoteric expression.

Through the interest and devotion of Dr. John Rassias, the members became familiar with French culture as can never adequately be comprehended from a text. Speaking French with increasing agility, the student becomes acquainted with the nuances of the French language.

The group attended French films in New York, without English sub-titles, and the celebrated stage production of Becket by Jean Anouilh.

The height of the club's enthusiasm was evidenced on Parent's Day; the French Club presented a cross-section of prominent seventeenth century plays, complete with authentic costumes.



Row 1: Dr. John Rassias (advisor), Albert Balash (secretary), Yvette Bredbenner (vice president), Anne Labarre (president), Rejeanne Begin (treassurer), Robert Dillman (social chairman).
Row 2: Douglas Pfister, Rachel Rothchild, Esther, Simon, Donna Lundvall, Patricia Briar, Marion Schindler, Kathleen Mahoney.
Row 3: Gordon Smilowitz, Robert Allen, Vincent, Caggiano, Rosemarie Conte, Doris Greenspan, Carolyn Johnson, Patricia Blake.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Young Republicans endeavors to acquaint young adults with the tenets of the Republican Party in the hope of recruiting new members to the national party.

Active in the presidential campaign on behalf of the Republican Party of Bridgeport and the United Volunteers for Nixon, the Young Republicans joined the political ferver in carrying signs through the city. Members sponsored a Halloween party for the United Volunteers for Nixon, distributed campaign material, worked at Republican Headquarters in Bridgeport, and helped to encourage voters to fulfill their responsibilities on election day.

Row 3: Charles Koory, Elizabeth Ragany, Martha Dean, Nancy Kerr, Elizabeth Siemers, David Ekstrom.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Row 4: Frank Mizak, Robert Belladella, Kenneth Byers.

The Young Democrats, under the direction of Robin Alteri and Edward Fernandez, endeavors to supplement the student's acquaintance with world entanglements with practical knowledge concerning party politics. The club's desire is to attract young people who feel motivated to understand and uphold the Democratic ideals as responsible citizens.

This year, the Young Demos took the opportunity to taste of the political fruit by actively participating in the Democratic campaign to elect John Kennedy as President. The members marched in the parade scheduled in the Senator's honor and held discussions to interpret the ramifications of Democratic influences in state and national affairs.

MARKETING CLUB

Row 1: Paula Norcross (corresponding secretary), Stanley Engle (treasurer), Frederick Prunier (parliamentarian), Gordon Wagner (president), Frank Pagano (vice president), Katherine Zotos (recording secretary), Mr. Edward Astarita (advisor).
Row 2: Kenneth Oberfelder, Frank Kleiner, Joseph Marciante, Jacquelyz White, John Pellegrino, Joel Hand.
Row 3: Robert McCullagh, Hans Zucker, Clifford Jacobson, Barry Blumenthal, Sidney Kohn.
Row 4: Henry Silverman, William Romeo, Gordon Cassano, Alvin Bogard.
Row 5: Thomas Shea, Robert Jackman, Paul Brostoff, Theodore Belfanti, William Kane, Eugene Conroy, Donald Karo.
Absent: Kurt Pfannkuch.

The Marketing Club, organized in 1950 under the auspices of the American Marketing Association, is instrumental in securing responsible business positions for its graduating members. Through consistent cooperation and communication between the club and prominent business personalities and industrialists, members are afforded the opportunity of investigating the particular endeavor they will undertake as graduates.

By eliminating the major-subject requirement for membership, the organization gained new impetus, new interests, and expanded the scope of coverage of the marketing radius to include more possibilities for use of marketing knowledge. Majors presently represented in the club are marketing, accounting, industrial design, graphic design, industrial relations, and economics.

BETA ALPHA

Beta Alpha, the accounting fraternity, was organized on the campus in 1948, and was reorganized after a brief period of inactivity. The objective of this fraternity is to make known to the accounting major what awaits him when he enters his chosen field. Beta Alpha members visit industries and firms in Fairfield County, and invite guest speakers to enlighten the fraternity as to present-day opportunities in accounting.

Row 1: Thomas Gorman (vice president), Edward Schneider (president), Walter McKeever (secretary).

SOCIETY FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT

The Bridgeport chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management in coordination with national headquarters and the local senior chapter participates in conferences, seminars, and panel discussions with business executives and college administrators. To further activate their aims, the group takes tours of industrial plants, views business films, and initiates informal social gatherings.

At present there are 178 chapters operating in leading colleges and universities in the United States, Canada, and Puerto Rico; 75 senior chapters are located throughout this country.

Row 1: Sidney Kohn (treasurer), Joseph Marciante(president), Frederick Prunier (secretary).
Row 2: Leif Dahl, Donald Kaiser, Paul Schulman, Danial Ianniello, Stuart Terrill, Richard Balt.
Absent: Frank Mizak, Henry Youd, John Wright, Peter Vercessi, Byron Contorinis, Mr. Oliver Headley (advisor).

NATIONAL STUDENT ASSOCIATION

Row 2: Judith Vllian, Joyce Berger, Sharon Pavlow, Gloria Valko, Robert King.
Row 3: Frank Mizak, Edmund Wolf, Arthur Sultan, Jack Rosenberg, Elliot Mininberg.

The plethora of activities provides students with an insight into the practice of management and furthers the growth of all students, regardless of their major, by stimulating their thinking and developing a better understanding of business and the free enterprise system. Associations with management personnel in the senior chapters can be beneficial to the student's subsequent business career.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Row 1: Gordon Cassano (treasurer), Gerald Frauwirth (vice president), Edward Fernandez (president), Robert Cooper (public relations), Elizabeth Ragany (secretary).
Row 2: Warren DeLibro, William Cooper, Raymond Luk, Frank Pagano, John Pellegrino, Richard Pike.

Row 5: Robert Patrignelli, Brian Beregszazy, Ronald Moorash.

The Historical Society was newly organized in the fall of 1960 with the purpose of allowing students the opportunity to express an interest in the concepts of history. Convocations and guest speakers provided the engendering thoughts for stimulating discussions among students and faculty. Provocative topics included the American Civil War and the repercussions of current world affairs. The success of the organization's ventures can be attributed to the cooperation of the University's History Department.

PEN AND KEYS

Pen and Keys, formed in October of 1960, is a semi-professional organization for all Weylister students. To encourage the avid support of new members, social events dominated the season's activities. New members were welcomed at an informal tea, a spring fashion show displayed the latest in women's apparel, and a testimonial dinner and picnic concluded the club's first year's agenda.

Row 1: Mrs. Hampson (advisor), Mary Adams (second vice president), Martha Dean (first vice president), Mercie Buswell (president), Nancy Kerr (secretary), Donna DaCruz (treasurer).

ARISTEIA

The honor society of the University of Bridgeport, which hopes someday to be a chapter of the national honor society, Phi Beta Kappa, is skillfully advised by Dr. Helen M. Scurr. To be considered for admission, a student must have attained at least a 3.2 overall Q.P.R., plus a 3.5 average in the field of major concentration.

Row 1: Margaret Figlar (vice president), Thomas Gorman (president), Joan Chevalier (secretary-treasurer), Dr. Helen Scurr (advisor).
Row 2: Peter Allard, Hannah Knepler, Eileen Samuels, Nancy Harvey, Joseph Trinidad.

CIRCLE K CLUB

Members of the Circle K are dedicated to the humanitarian efforts of service to the school and community. The group performed such varying types of services as serving refreshments to provide relief from the chaotic confusion of fall and spring registration and offering gymnasium custodial services.

As active participants in Parents' Day, organizing a Christmas party for needy children, and working with the Kennedy Center, the Circle K has become a recognized asset to the University and the city of Bridgeport.

DEBATING SOCIETY

Absent: Jonathan Penner.

Dedicated to the practice of the time-honored forensic art, members of the Debating Society also find debating helpful in the development of keen analytical powers, logical thinking, and public speaking ability. To future lawyers, doctors, teachers, business executives, and administrators these skills are of primary importance.

In its fourteenth year of activities, the Society had a particularly stimulating season. The debators participated in tournaments at Central Connecticut, R.P.I., Harvard, Columbia, Brooklyn College, University of Vermont, and C.C.N.Y., at which times they won various trophies.

Among other activities, the Society sponsored a convocation and played host to Southern Connecticut at a home debate. At its annual dinner, the group presented the Debating Award to Miss Barbara Bertany and Mr. Omri Serlin.

PSYCHOLOGY SOCIETY

Psychology, as a future endeavor, encompasses more than Roman-style couch analysis. A degree in psychology can qualify one for work with the mentally retarded, in large corporations, and as college consultants. The aim of the Psychology Society is to make known to the students these varying opportunities through lectures, as by Dr. Justus Van Der Kroef, and a visit to the Yale University experimental laboratories.

Row 2: Joyce Berber, Cynthia Gelbard, Sharon Pavlow, Adele Silberman, Gloria Valko.
Row 3: Judith Vllian, Edmund Wolf, Elliot Mininberg, Stephen Eisenberg, Roberta King.

MUSIC ASSOCIATION

Symphonies and operatic arias provide quiet hours of pensive pleasure for enthusiasts in the Music Association. Open to all music conniseurs, this group cultivates fine taste in the harmonious arts by making available to their members the use of laboratories and an extensive library.

One must understand a medium to better appreciate its values; thus, each student has the opportunity to become more intellectually aware of the skill involved in music composition and expression.

Row 1: Florence Caterson (corresponding secretary), Edwin Griswold (treasurer), Alan Newman (president), Clara Takacs (vice president), Barbara Saul (recording secretary).
Row 2: Gwen Petitjean, Leonard Levine, Sandra Koment, Dante Bedini.
Row 3: Alva Stanton, Ersilia Carangelo, Karen Bisch, Lars Finger.

BIOLOGY SOCIETY

Sponsoring field trips, speakers, and the annual "Exotic Dinner," the Biology Society ranks as one of the oldest campus organizations, being founded in 1935 by the late Professor William W. Everett.

This year the Society dedicated a seminar and reading room to the memory of Professor Everett. During the summer months the members acted as hosts for the National Science Foundations Pre-College Science Center. The ecology of the Hot Dog was studied during a picnic at the Westport Retreat of Mr. James. The group's own publication "The Purple Probe" was published twice this year.

When a strong purple and white wall held one of the highest ranked small colleges in the country to a scoreless tie, Bridgeport fans knew that their 1960 Knights were headed for a winning season. Much of the credit for a successful year must be attributed to the fine passing abilities of quarterbacks Larry Pasquale and Pete DeGregorio. Their targets were generally Mike Oshan and Walt Czekaj. The punting of John Hutchinson earned the senior a position among the nation's top booters. Norm Pederson, Tom Shea, and Dick Conetta supplied the rushing power of the team. The front line, led by Little All-American Angelo Palumbo, must also be considered a vital part of UB's winning squad. Linemen Vito Rallo, Jud Mundorf, Rudy Valentine, Harry Schilb, and Jeff Whan supplied most of the strength on offense, while John Moran, Jim Smith, John Kopka, and Dave Pearson were the year's defensive standouts.

Finally, mention of the successful year cannot be made without comment concerning the fine job done by Coach DiSpirito and his staff. These men took a squad of 8 seniors, 12 juniors, and 23 (!) sophomores and whipped them into a winning team overnight. They have set before us an example of what they can do with an inexperienced squad. It should be interesting to see how far they will go with next year's experienced team!

Although this year's soccer team failed to make the NCAA finals, UBites can be proud of the outstanding record compiled by the Knights. It took a powerful Yale squad to stop the purple and white booters, who had rolled to 5 straight victories. The loss of co-captain Jim Kuhlmann and Jack Coogan did much to thwart UB's chances of repeating its performance of 1959 when the Knights competed for the NCAA championship. Nevertheless, coach John McKeon's squad completed the season with 7 victories, 1 loss, and 1 tie. UB soccer teams, through the years, have registered a 58-16-3 record under McKeon.

This year's offense was headed by John Majesko, Hans Zucker, Bob Dikranian, and Pat Quigley. Bob "Headball" Landers, Lee "Hustle" Bogli, Tasso Chirogianis, Fred Mayer, and Nick Wirth starred on defense.

With better than 50 percent of the team playing varsity ball for the first time, UB's 1960-61 basketball squad posted a 9 and 14 record. Many Bridgeport fans, realizing the team's need for experience, were certainly satisfied with the performance of their Purple Knights. Especially appreciated was the fine job done by Gus Seaman during his first year as the varsity's head coach.

The purple and white scoring column was headed this year by Dan Morrello, Joe Yasinski, and Joe Troiano. Morrello's big games were those played against C.C.N.Y., Hunter, and Adelphi. Yasinski led UB attacks on A.I.C. and Southern Connecticut. In the Fairfield and L.I.U. games, Troiano set the pace. Fred Schack also contributed much to the Bridgeport scoring. Red Bołk, Yasinski, and Schack were the top rebounders for the squad, while Ferrara was the playmaker of the year.

The will to win never faded with Bridgeport. This attitude was evident in UB's first game against Fairfield. The Stags had taken a quick 6-0 lead in the second inning. The Knights chopped away at the lead until they tied the opponent in the seventh. Then Fairfield pushed one run ahead in the following inning. It was Bridgeport's three-run explosion in the bottom of the eighth, however, that brought victory to the Knights.

The UB squad, led by first baseman Ev Thorpe and centerfielder Richie DiMuro, ended the season with a 6-10-1 record. Bridgeport's starting lineup also included third baseman Al Koperwatts, second baseman Rudy Takacs, shortstop Gerry Amorosanna, catcher Doug Holmquist, rightfielder John Majesko, and leftfielder Nick Gennaro. The pitching staff was headed by Bob Budd, Mike Oshan, and Mike McLaughlin.

Although UB's varsity track team was unable to win a meet, certain members of Coach Kay's 1961 squad were consistent scorers throughout the year. Jim McGarry won the 220 and 440-yard dash in the Fairfield meet and took first place in the 440 against Hunter. In every Bridgeport meet, the pole vault was won by UB's Smith. Smith also won the 110-yard hurdles against Fairleigh-Dickinson. The discus throw was won twice by Yanosy and once by Leigh. Yanosy also took a first with the shot put in the Fairfield meet. Bruno scored firsts with the shot in both the Fairleigh-Dickinson and Adelphi contests. Co-captain Jim Kuhlmann won the 220-yard hurdles against Hunter and Feeley placed first in the same event against Fairleigh-Dickinson. John Kopka took first place in the 220 and 440-yard dash in the Adelphi meet. John also teamed with Longo, Bruno, and Feeley to win the mile relay against Adelphi.

FRESHMAN TRACK

The 1961 freshman track team participated in two meets this year. The Knights were outpointed by Fairleigh-Dickinson, 67-58, but won their final contest against Fairfield, 61-59.

Bob Goehring broke the school record in the javelin throw during the Fairleigh-Dickinson meet with a toss of 190 feet, 9 inches. Then against Fairfield, he broke his own record by throwing the spear 198 feet, 3 inches.

TENNIS

The 1961 UB Varsity Tennis team spoiled the opening of Fairfield University's new tennis courts by handing the Stags a 5½ to 3½ defeat. It was John Feldman's victory over an aggressive Fairfield player that gave the Purple Knights the win. Altshull, Greenhut, and Griswold also scored for Bridgeport.

Hartford University tagged the Knights with a 7-2 defeat at the Laurel Courts. Dick Altshull and Eric Greenhut accounted for Bridgeport's score.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The most fundamental unit of achievement necessary to produce a publication of this magnitude is co-operation and participation, not only by the staff, but also by outsiders who lend their efforts and talents. This year we were very fortunate to have many helpful hands lent to us by competent individuals.

About the most important aspect of any yearbook is pictures and this year we had a fine photographer work with us, which just by itself merits reward. Murray Modick of Victor O'Neill Studios in New York took the senior pictures and also the title divider page color shot. As evidenced by the results of this work Murray spent many extra hours making up where the staff and students were lacking.

Part of the backbone of any publication is the assembling, enlarging, reducing, setting up galleys, proof-reading, suggesting layout ideas, and art consulting, all being summed up under the title of publishing. This year we were fortunate enough to be able to retain Bradbury, Sayles, O'Neill, Hurley, & Thomson Publishing Company. For many years this concern has coped with problems imposed upon them by the student of U.B.

Our thanks go to Dick Robertson, also of Victor O'Neill Studios, who on many spontaneous occasions came from Stamford to take pictures of special events. To Dick we give thanks for the taking of many of the color divider pages.

The staff would like to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Hotchkiss, Director of Alumni Hall, for her co-operation in helping us through many difficult situations. One must realize that to get along with that small group on the third floor in room 35 is almost a full time job in itself, but Mrs. Hotchkiss, with the help of her secretary, Miss Linda Varaney, advised us and offered us a place to confide in.

Our cover was originally designed by Mortimer Wallerstein and was considerably revised by the staff of the Publishing Company. The staff thanks Mr. Wallerstein for his efforts.

One of the more colorful sections of the Yearbook is that belonging to the Fraternities and Sororities. Our hats are off to those who worked so willingly with our staff on these pages and produced some of the most humorous pages of the book.

Below you see a picture of Vic Muniec, advisor to the WISTARIAN. The pictures surrounding him are just a few of the many which end up in the Yearbook. To Vic go the heartfelt thanks of the staff who worked with him in producing this year's WISTARIAN.

We would also like to thank the many people who have contributed to the production of the 1961 WISTARIAN, but who need no thanks for theirs is self-rewarding.
